New Way of Learning...

Flexible Learning is rapidly becoming the new standard in education. The intention behind Flexible is to step away from standard classroom layouts, and whilst this approach has been around for many years, teachers understand that the classroom needs to be more adaptable.

- Independent
- Semi-collaborative
- Collaborative

The three main areas in a flexible learning environment are Independent, Semi-collaborative and Collaborative. These learning styles evolve from the need for students to work alone, in small groups or pairs, or as a larger group or whole class. Flexible furniture takes students out from behind rows of desks and enables them to work effectively to complete a task.

“Flexible furniture for Flexible learning”

Flexible Learning...

The key is in the word; by bringing in flexible furniture you can adapt and cater for a variety of different learning experiences and styles. Children aren't all the same size so why should the classroom be one size fits all?

Comfortable students are engaged students, and Flexible seating takes students out from behind rows of desks and lets them choose from a variety of seating options.

ENBOB Floor Chair

Sitting on the floor has never been a perfect sitting position. Uncomfortable, bad posture, no back support, no relaxation.

The design of the ENBOB solves these problems whilst still being at floor level. Teachers have commented that it allows children to sit straighter and more comfortably, even encouraging them to sit on the floor during carpet activities, providing better interaction with the children on their level.

Sit/Stand Desks

Our Sit/Stand Height Adjustable Desks give you the opportunity to adjust your working height throughout a range of sitting & standing positions.

Sitting behind your desk all day is bad for your health and experts have long been advising people to stand at their workstations for about 15 minutes an hour. But a University of Waterloo professor says his research shows that people should be standing for at least 30 minutes per hour to get the health benefits. One of the main health benefits of standing is that it reduces the risk of weight gain and obesity.

- Available with electric motor or crank handle adjustment. Adjust through 710 – 1210mm.
- Specify from a wide range of sizes and top finishes.

Statix Range

The 40mm thick tops and high impact resistant edges make it a perfect product for many areas including dining rooms.
